Daniel Vasconcelos lit a candle in honor of Prosper.

In Loving Memory of Prosper I was deeply saddened to hear of Prosper's passing. I had the privilege of knowing him through our work together, and from the very beginning I admired his presence, his clarity, and his appreciation for the finer things in life — always with warmth and grace. While we shared many conversations about business, my favorite memory has nothing to do with deals or numbers. It was a simple moment: sitting together in the dealership waiting area, while others were busy around us, just talking, laughing, and enjoying an unhurried conversation. It was effortless and genuine — a reflection of who Prosper truly was. He knew how much I admired both him and Regina, and I'm grateful for the trust and kindness he showed me. He will be deeply missed, and fondly remembered. May his memory be a blessing.
