Sylvia was such a special part of my childhood, and I feel so lucky to have spent so many weekends and after school days in her home with my best friend- always filled with laughter, warmth, and the sweetest traditions. I'll never forget how we had to wait until after our baths to eat the fudge we made together- it made it feel extra special every time. Making Rice Krispie treats with gooey marshmallows in her kitchen is a memory I'll always cherish. Walking into her house with that fresh Pine-Sol scent, heading straight to the rumpus room , and just laughing and having fun- those were the best times. Sylvia was part of so many of our growing up moments, from carpooling and cotillion to taking us to get our horse back riding gear for camp. I can still hear her sweet voice- "Hi dah-long" in that beautiful New England accent" Sylvia, you gave us so many wonderful memories that I will carry with me always. Rest in peace, Sylvia With love, Jodi
